"Into the Night" is the first single from Carlos Santana's new compilation, Ultimate Santana. The track features Chad Kroeger from Nickelback, whom he previously worked with for "Why Don't You and I" from his album Shaman. It has received a considerable amount of airplay on VH1. Dania Ramirez of Heroes stars in the music video. The music video features a man about to jump off a roof (Freddy Rodriguez of Ugly Betty) when he sees a girl dancing (Dania Ramirez of Heroes). He falls for her immediately and starts to follow her. Eventually he follows her to a club where he watches her dance, and at the end they dance together. Meanwhile, Kroeger and Santana play on the roof of the building. Comments from Wikipedia.org
